LOCAL BRIEVITIES

Matters of Minor Moment in and About the City.

The Grand this evening—"The Pay Train."

The Duquesne Club will give a dance at the Duquesne Club February 11.

Only one case was up in the police court yesterday, a plain drunk, and he was dismissed.

The Register got its "roasting clothes" on yesterday again. They do not fit, and yet the paper had a fit.

James McGee has resigned from the city police force, and Chief Bennett appointed Charles Schrader, of the Eighth ward, to succeed him.

A baby was born in the county jail yesterday morning, the mother being Jennie Lucas, a woman serving a thirty-day sentence for larceny in a house of ill repute.

Harry Griffin was arraigned before Squire Gillespy last evening on a charge of bastardy, preferred by Mary Weidman, and in default of bond in the sum of $400 he went to jail.

A private ball will be given at the Central Garden hall on an evening at 12 by the Louis H. H. Killmeyer will make the music, and a thoroughly enjoyable time is confidently expected.

Clerk Hook yesterday admitted to record a deed made January 30 by Frederick Yanit and wife to Thomas Gabriel, for $1,300, lot 13 in square 5, in Gilchrist's addition No. 3, on the Island.

Mr. A. Dietrich shipped between 26,000 and 27,000 pounds of dried apples on the Steamer Hudson, for Cincinnati, last evening. This makes some 137,000 pounds he has handled this season.—Clarion Independent.

Kitty Welch, aged sixteen, was arrested by the police yesterday in Ada Foster's house of ill fame, on the South Side. Her uncle came here to take her home, if possible. Those who saw her and heard her talk said she was the toughest woman of her age ever seen in the country.

The North End Literary and Athletic Association gave its annual ball last night at its club house at the east end of Seventh street. The attendance was large, and it was altogether one of the most enjoyable events of its kind this season. Bachmann's orchestra furnished the music.

Yesterday a newly wedded couple of Poles from the Wheeling Creek coal mines, created quite a sensation about town. They were married at Martin's Perry, and came over here to take a train on the Wheeling &amp; Lake Erie road. They walked about the streets for some time, the bride wearing a big white veil and no hat.

C. L. Weems, esq., was represented in the Wheeling News, a few evenings since, as being violently and viciously opposed to the Haskell bill. Mr. Weems opposed the interview principally. He says he did meet a News reporter, and being asked about the bill, did say he was opposed to the county feature of the bill, but his manner and language was wholly misrepresented in the interview as published.—St. Clairsville Chronicle.

ABOUT PEOPLE

Strangers in the City and Wheeling Folks Abroad.

Mr. Samuel Meeker, of Clarington, was here yesterday.

W. L. Burdette, Jr., of Hinton, was in the city yesterday.

T. Joyce and S. W. Joyce, well known Grafton Elks, are at the McLure.

Prof. F. H. Crago is able to be about again after a critical illness of nearly six weeks.

Charles F. Dittmar and wife, the latter "Miss Florence Hindley" on the bills, are at the McLure.

A. K. Burroughs, of Pittsburgh, an official of the Pennsylvania lines, was at the McLure yesterday.

Mrs. Woodward and daughter, of Taylor, Texas, are the guests of Mrs. Harry Mendel, on the Island.

Edward Sohm, of Quincy, Ill., a prominent western glass buyer, was here yesterday, and was a visitor at the Central's sample parlors in the McLure.

Mrs. T. T. Johnston, of Boston, who has been the guest of her parents in Cincinnati, is visiting her brother, Mr. W. S. Wright, general manager of the Wheeling Railway Company.

Mrs. L. J. Robinson will shortly take up her residence on Main street in Wheeling. Her many friends will be sorry to learn of her decision to remove from this place, says the Martin's Ferry Times.

A. A. Rowe, H. L. Stafford, C. O. Ingfield, J. M. Lambing, W. M. Graham, and W. R. Truby, of Pittsburgh, and T. N. Barnard, of Bradford, were among yesterday's arrivals at the McLure. They are oil men.

J. K. Dye, of Parkersburg, general agent of the Ohio River Railway Company, was here last evening, enroute to Pittsburgh, to attend a freight committee conference. The Ohio River road wants higher rates on the through freight it handles.

Last evening Miss Etta Weitzell entertained a large number of her friends at her home on Fifteenth street, at a very enjoyable card party. Refreshments were served at a reasonable hour, and dancing followed. It was a very brilliant social success.

In the Courts.

In Judge Campbell's court yesterday the jury in the contested will case of Mary Armbruster returned a verdict setting aside the will. A motion for a new trial was made, and set for argument February 8.

The criminal court will be in session again this forenoon.

In Other Times.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well informed people will not buy any other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

"GIVE me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The drought handed him a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Bitters, the famous little pills. Logan &amp; Co., Wheeling, W. Va., R. F. Peabody, Benwood and Bowle &amp; Co., Bridgeport, O.

THE NEW CHARTER

Considered by the Special Committee to be Needed.

THE FIRST MEETING WAS HELD

Last Night and the Committee Organized Ready for Business—Dr. R. W. Hazlett is the Chairman—Great Interest Manifested in the Subject by All the Gentlemen Present—The Committee Waiting to Secure Copies of the Charters of Other Cities and Other Information.

Last night the special committee of council, the chamber of commerce, the Trades Assembly and the citizens at large, appointed at the instance of the city council to consider the proposal to make a new city charter, held its first meeting. There was a very full attendance. The committee as appointed, is made up as follows:

First branch of council—Messrs. A. Paul, J. A. Britt, Charles Ebeling and Thomas Davison.

Second branch—N. C. Hamilton, A. H. Campbell, E. Bodley and John Watrous.

Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly—M. F. Tighe, Richard Robertson.

Chamber of Commerce—Thomas O'Brien, Dr. R. W. Hazlett.

Builders' Exchange—Bernard Killeen, George W. Lutz.

At large—J. A. Miller, H. P. McGregor.

Messrs. Paul, Killeen, Lutz and McGregor did not appear. Col. O'Brien was present, but had to excuse himself and leave. He said, however, that he was heartily in favor of the movement and his co-operation could be counted on.

Mr. Campbell moved that Dr. Hazlett be chosen chairman, and this motion was adopted unanimously. Mr. Campbell said he thought the committee could not do more than organize and decide if a new charter was really wanted. He said the clerk had written to other cities for copies of their charters, and a few had been received.

Mr. Thomas Davison said he thought the first thing to decide was if a new charter was needed. He hoped to hear from some of the gentlemen present who had been connected with the city government in years past. As for himself, he thought there was need of a change.

Ex-Mayor J. A. Miller said there were faults in the present charter, but any charter that might be formed would meet with objections. To overdo the thing or under-do it would be unpopular. It was a delicate subject, in his view. The first charter of the city was issued in 1806, and the last new one in 1856. It was sixty years ago that any systematic changes were made, and there certainly ought to be great improvements in city governments in that interval.

Mr. Robertson thought as a representative of the working classes, that a new charter was badly needed. He expressed at this point his own views and Mr. Tighe at being on this committee.

Mr. Tighe thought the first thing to do was to become conversant with the present charter. Mr. Campbell thought the ordinance book would give a good idea of the organic law of the city.

Mr. Hamilton moved to have each member not in possession of a copy of the laws, furnished with an ordinance book.

Dr. Hazlett suggested that it might be better first to adopt a resolution declaring the sense of the committee that a new charter was required or advisable.

Mr. Robertson moved that the committee express its sentiment that a new charter ought to be had, and that the committee proceed to formulate one.

Mr. Miller called attention to the fact that no secretary had been formally chosen, and Mr. Charles Henning was elected. As clerk of all council committees he was already officiating at the desk.

Mr. Robertson's motion was then adopted, and the motion to furnish each member with a copy of the ordinance book was also passed.

Mr. Davison said he did not think the committee could do a great deal until the members were posted as to the present charter and had time to form an idea of what changes it was desirable to make. He moved therefore, to adjourn to meet again at the call of Chairman Hazlett, and the committee adjourned.

Pleasant Gathering Last Night.

The old Walter's place, on the national road, was the scene of a jovial party last night. On invitations passed informally by G. W. Humphrey, C. E. Noble, R. Smith and J. Kaumir, about fifty of the sterner sex responded from Triadelphia, Liberty and Washington districts, and after music, songs and recitations, the guests were escorted by the committee to the dining hall, where a table laden with viands met the eyes of the surprised guests. After partaking of these the "O, be joyful" was frequently passed and responses made to the toasts suggested by G. W. Humphrey. Congratulations were then passed to the respective E. O'Neil to "Our Invited Guests," and C. E. Noble on "The Object of this Social Gathering."

Exalted Ruler Myers.

There was quite a stir in R. P. O. E. circles here yesterday afternoon and last evening, the occasion being the first visit to Wheeling in an official capacity, of Grand Exalted Ruler William G. Meyers, of Philadelphia. He arrived from the west, where he has spent several weeks in visiting lodges. He is the guest of the local lodge, Wheeling No. 25. Last evening two parlors at the McLure were secured and an informal reception in the visitor's house was given. The parlors were crowded throughout the evening. Mr. Meyers, who is financial editor of the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, leaves this morning for the east.

A FRUITFUL SEARCH

We have been through our Boys' Clothing Department from stem to stern, hunting out the broken lots in Boys' Overcoats, Boys' Reefers and Boys' Odd Trousers. There are hundreds of Suits, hundreds of Overcoats and scores of Reefers. This morning we give the prices a push that will put them where you will be eager to buy them. These odds and ends are the penalty of the immense Boys' Clothing trade we do. It cannot be helped, so we go it blind, and the public comes in for the benefit. Do not forget that they are THE HUB Suits and Overcoats and we stand behind them just the same.
